Click behaviour and search data

To gain more insight into the use of adam-vr.com and the performances of (online) marketing campaigns, use is made of web analytics software on the website, called Google Analytics. This is software which records anonymized data with regard to your website visit. Examples of recorded data are for instance the source of origin of your visit (e.g. a campaign or referring webpage), the webpages viewed by you, search assignments used, etc. We point out explicitly that these data can never be traced back to you as a person or individual, with the exception of situations where you identify yourself as a person via one of the forms on the website. In such cases, your search behavior can be linked to the data entered.

We try to anonymize these data as much as possible. For example, the IP-address is anonymized by not registering the last part of the IP-address. These data are not provided to third parties. The information obtained is transferred to and stored by Google on servers in the United States. The data from Google Analytics cookies are sent secured (encrypted).

We make use of remarketing cookies. In this way, the information that you view on our website is remembered, by means of which remarketing lists are built up, without this leading to a profile traceable to a person. By doing so, we are able to show you relevant specific advertisements on other websites.

Read the privacy policy of Google regarding advertisements for more information, as well as the privacy policy of Google Analytics for general information about the privacy policy of Google.

Google uses this information to keep up-to-date with how our website is being used, to be able to provide reports about the website to us and to be able to offer its advertisers information about the effectiveness of their campaigns. Google can provide this information to third parties if Google is legally obliged to do so, or insofar as these third parties process the information on behalf of Google. We do not have any influence on this. We have not permitted Google to use the analytics information obtained for other Google services, for example for benchmark data. We have concluded a processor's agreement with Google.
